3 series

Under Act of Apr. 1, 1836, requiring banks to make quarterly statements, and Apr. 16, 1850, act regulating banks.

From 1836 to 1838 the stmt. of liabilities and resources of the banks was issued separately under the title "Abstract, etc." From 1839-1891 it was a part of the regular report on banks; for this period, however, the summary covers but one date, viz.: Oct. or Nov. The first three issues are collated below under "Abstract."

In Federal documents as follows:

Pursuant to U. S. House resolution of Jly. 10, 1832, the Secretary of the Treasury was directed to submit to Congress at the next and at each successive session a return showing the capital, circulation, etc. of the various state banks. Returns were made annually from 1833 to 1863 inclusive, when the first national bank act went into operation. Under the federal resolution the following annual reports of the state of Pennsylvania came to be printed in the federal documents. Returns made by the U. S. Secretary of the Treasury to Congress, which are not annual reports, are entered below in their chronological place under the "non-serial" group.

Bank of Pittsburgh

Incorporated under the "Mammoth" act of Mch. 21, 1814. The bank was first organized in 1808, but in Mch., 1810, was prohibited from conducting a banking business unless chartered by the Legislature. The business was continued however, under the title "Pittsburg Manufacturing Co." until a charter was secured when the old title was resumed. A branch bank was maintained at Beaver from 1834 to 1839.

BANKS: INDIVIDUAL BANKS—cont'd

Bank of United States (National)

The first Bank of the United States was established in Phila. See U. S. 61 Cong. 2 sess. Senate doc. 571; this document also contains an account of the private bank of Stephen Girard which filled the interval betw. the liquidation of the U. S. Bank in 1811 and the chartering of the Girard Bank in 1832.

Under act of the Penn. Legisl., Feb. 18, 1836, a state bank was chartered: "The present stockholders of the Bank of the United States, excepting the United States and the Treasurer of the United States, and such other persons as may become stockholders, agreeably to the by-laws made for that purpose to an amount not exceeding in the whole the present capital of the bank, their successors and assigns to be, and are hereby created a corporation and body politic, by the name and style of the President, Directors and Company of the Bank of the United States."

PENNSYLVANIA

Early in the year 1789 recommendations for a general system of inland navigation were made by both the Supreme Executive Council and the Legislature of Penn.; Apr. 13, 1791, a law was passed appropriating sums for improving the navigation of certain rivers and constructing certain roads with view to connecting "the eastern and western waters of the state"—an object finally accomplished by the Penn. Canal. The improvement of river navigation by removal of obstructions, erection of waterlocks, etc., and the numerous surveys and explorations during the period 1789-1824 were the experimental measures out of which developed the state system of internal improvement designated by act of Feb. 25, 1826, "The Pennsylvania Canal." (See below, Canals and Slack-Water Navigation: Individual—State.)

For the reason that the early river improvements were largely along the lines later included in the state system of internal improvement and are considered as inaugural steps in the development of that system, a large part of the material relating to improvement of navigation of rivers and other streams has been classified here, in preference to River Conservancy, or Public Works, headings used in preceding indexes for this kind of material.

The greatest incentive to improvements in inland navigation in Penn. was its natural adaptability. Among the influential factors in development may be noted (1) The Society for the Promotion of Internal Improvement of Road and River Navigation, formed in 1789; a memorial of this Society to the Legislature, Feb. 7, 1791, recommended a line of public works which was practically developed in the state system of public works; reprints of their memorials to the Penn. Legisl. are included in Amer. State Papers. Misc. v. 2, pp. 834, et seq. (2) Improvements in neighboring states. (3) The many private canal and slack-water navigation companies which had been incorporated and were in active operation before the state system was definitely located. The success of these companies was a strong argument for the establishment of a state work as a source of revenue. Moreover it was thought that the possible combination of these companies might prove a dangerous monopoly. (4) The Penn. Society for the Promotion of Internal Improvements, formed in 1824, did much to bring about state legislation on internal improvement; their publications being unofficial it has not been possible to introduce them into this Index; an excellent collection of their addresses, petitions and sundry publications is in the library of the Library Co. of Phila. The Society indirectly promoted the Canal Convention held at Harrisburg, Aug. 4-6, 1825, which adopted a resolution favoring internal improvements to connect the Susquehanna and the Allegheny and Ohio, and from the Allegheny to Lake Erie.

The first rept. in this pamphlet is by T. Matlack, Reading Howell and W. Dean, Dec. 2, 1789; their rept. relates to the Del. and the Lehigh; they were instructed by the act under which they were apptd. to mark "places where locks or canals are necessary," and found the river Lehigh the only place suitable for "that mode of improving navigation."

The second rept. is by the comrs. apptd. to view the River Delaware under act of Sept. 28, 1789; the comrs. were Timothy Matlack, Reading Howell and Wm. Dean; date of rept. Feb. 4, 1790.

The third rept. is rept. of the comrs. apptd. to view and explore the rivers Susquehanna and Juniata; comrs. were Saml. Boyd, Bartrem Galbraith and Thomas Huling; date of rept., Jan. 30, 1790.

The fourth rept. is on the river Schuylkill; the comrs. were John Adlum and Benj. Rittenhouse.

Bald Eagle and Spring Creek Navigation Company

Incorporated under act of Apr. 14, 1834, to make a navigable canal or slack-water navigation for passage up and down Bald Eagle and Spring creeks, from pool of state dam across Bald Eagle Creek to point near Bellefonte; the large interest of the state in the company made the improvement practically a state work.

2 series

Under act of Apr. 11, 1825.

Note: Throughout this series there is much variation between the departmental and document editions, and, in some cases, between the Senate and House departmental editions. Unless stated to the contrary, departmental editions from 1828/9 to 1857/8 do not include accompanying documents nor the Journal. The accompanying documents are included in the document editions up to and including 1842/3. The Journal of the board of canal commissioners has been listed separately (Group B) from the annual report, though it immediately follows that report as printed in the Senate and House Journals; it occurs in the departmental edition of the annual report in 1827 and 1827/8 only.

On account of the varying pagination and contents of the different editions, a particular effort has been made in indexing the reports to indicate the edition from which taken and whether found in that edition alone; the report proper of the canal commissioners occurs in all editions, and, as a rule is paged uniformly.

- [1825/6]-1857/8. [Annual] rept. of the canal comrs. of Penn. Harrisburg, 1826-[1859].

1. [Preliminary] 1825 Dec. 30 doc. ed. (House.) n. t. p. pp. 159-163.

- [2.] [Final] 1825/6 (Feb. 3, 1826) dept. ed. [Senate.] Prtd. by Cameron & Krause, 1826. 18 pp.

A typographical error occurs in all editions of this rept., viz: "under act of Apr. 7, 1825." It should read Apr. 11, 1825. This error together with the fact that repts. made Dec. 11, 1826 and Feb. 6, 1827 are entitled "First rept. . . ." and "second rept. . . ." [i. e. first and second of the year, not of the series] serves to give it the appearance of a special rept.

1818 Mch. 5. Failure to realize substantial benefits from internal improvements may be due to want of regard to importance of objects to be first improved; had "the whole surplus funds, in the first instance been properly directed to one or two turnpike roads or canals, leading from the west to the east, through the center of the state, in all probability, by this time, those great objects would have been fully completed." (Rept. of committee of ways and means, Mch. 5, 1818.)

One of the duties of the canal comrs. under act of Apr. 11, 1825, was inquiry into the establishment and management of a canal fund. In their rept. for 1825/6 (Feb. 3, 1826) they recommended establishment of a comm. to be called "The comrs. of the fund for the improvement of the state." The comm. established consisted of the secretary of the commonwealth, auditor gen. and treasurer.

In Documents as follows:

1887 in A.R. secy. internal affairs, pt. 1, 1886/7: 100-136A.

1888 in A.R. secy. internal affairs, pt. 1, 1887/8: 77-310A.

1889 in A.R. secy. internal affairs, pt. 1, 1888/9: 32-149A.

1890 in A.R. secy. internal affairs, pt. 1, 1889/90: 48-176A.

1891 in A.R. secy. internal affairs, pt. 1, 1890/1: 27-149A.

1892 in A.R. secy. internal affairs, pt. 1, 1891/2: 33-156A.

1893 in A.R. secy. internal affairs, pt. 1, 1892/3: 153-311A.

1894 in A.R. secy. internal affairs, pt. 1, 1893/4: 42-188A.

1895 in A.R. secy. internal affairs, pt. 1, 1894/5: 18-196A.

1896 in A.R. secy. internal affairs, pt. 1, 1895/6: 151A.

Also an abstract in Documents as follows:

1887/8-1895/6 in 4 A.R. bd. of health 1887/8 (pp. 1115-1167)—12 same (1895/6).

In 1895/6 the rept. is complete for each month, contrary to that in Rept. of secy. of internal affairs, consisting of a single paragraph. Monthly repts. on climatology are published in the ann. rept. of the state bd. of health until 1904; see note below, under Bulletins.

BULLETINS

(Monthly)

Monthly weather bulletins were issued Oct., 1887, until Feb., 1896. Besides the re-issues in the Journal of the Franklin Institute, Oct. 1, 1887-May 31, 1895, they were reprinted in (2) state publications, viz.: the Ann. Rept. of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, pt. 1 and the Ann. Rept. of the State Board of Health; at first only an abstract was printed in the latter rept.; beginning with Dec., 1894 they are printed in full and from Dec. 1, 1895, to Feb., 1896, are found in the Ann. Rept. of the Board of Health alone. It should be noted also that the greater part of the material, with the exception of crop repts., listed below, in Groups B and C, was reprinted in the Board of Health Reports, 1896-1904.

1887-1896. Penn. state weather service bulletins: monthly summary of meteorological repts. made by voluntary observers, to, and monthly reviews prepared by, the meteorological committee of the Franklin Institute, Phila. [Known as the Monthly Weather Review, May, 1888, et seq.]

 1873. Diagram of W. B. Culver's safety hoisting carriage; scale $\frac{1}{2}$ inch = 1 ft. (Repts. of inspectors of coal mines 1873: betw. pp. 202 and 203.)
 —. Safety hoisting carriage in use at the Empire shaft, Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Coal Co.; scale: $\frac{1}{2}$ inch = 1 ft. (Same 1873: betw. pp. 202 and 203.)
 —. Notice sent to mining cos., in Middle distr. of Luzerne and Carbon cos. rel. to safety catches; repts. returned. (Same 1873: 207-209.)
 —. Dangers in coal mines; falls of coal and rock, explosions of gas, powder and blasts, suffocation, reckless working and haulage and a disregard of discipline. (Same 1873: 64-65.)
 —. Gases, their character, constituent, measure and weight. (Same 1873: 65-73.)
 —. Suggestions about storage and use of dynamite or giant powder. (Same 1873: 53-55.)
 1874. Plan of safety and self dump carriages in use at the Audenried shaft, Lehigh & Wilkesbarre Coal Co.; by F. B. Parrish; scale: $\frac{1}{2}$ inch = 1 foot. (Same 1874: betw. pp. [188] and [189].)
 1875. Electric signal system in Stanton slope. (Same 1875: 175.)
 1876. Dangers of mining anthracite coal, as compared agst. bituminous. (Same 1876: 20-21.)
 —. Rept. rel. to greater danger attending mining of anthracite coal of Penn. as compared with that of bituminous mines of Great Britain and of this and other states. (Same 1876: 44-47.)
 1877. Danger from using "patent squibs." (Same 1877: 54.)
 —. Care in handling the patent miner's cartridges. (Same 1877: 55-56.)

COAL MINES AND MINING—cont'd

Safety Measures—cont'd

1880. Perils of fast hoisting in shafts. (Same 1880: 102-103.)
- Rigid discipline needed to insure greater safety in business of mining coal. (Same 1880: 137.)
 - Miner's lamp oil. (Same 1880: 74-75; 204-206.)
 - Steam as a fire extinguisher; gas as a fire extinguisher. (Same 1880: 38-41.)
1881. Mine doors. (Same 1881: 136.)
- Propping; description of the three systems of propping. (Same 1881: 136-138.)
 - Danger of wooden structures over the mouths of slopes and shafts. (Same 1881: 8-10.)
1883. Improvement in safety-lamps. (Same 1883: 118.)
- The Williams Improved Davy Safety Lamp with patent extinguisher. (Same 1883: 84.)
1884. An apparatus for producing carbonic acid gas for the purpose of extinguishing fires in mines; description and diagram. (Same 1884: 98-99.)
1885. Electric signals in mines of 3d anthracite distr. (Same 1885: 57.)
- Stmt. of amt. and cost of lumber used at some of the mines. (Same 1885: 130-131.)
 - Electric signals in mines; fans—speed-indicator; 3d anthracite distr. (13 A.R. bureau of industrial statistics 1885: 65A.)
 - Amdmt. to anthracite mining law rel. to penalties, suggested; ambiguity of sec. making it compulsory for operators to furnish props, etc. for safe mining of coal—cost in some cases deducted from miners' pay. (13 same 1885: xi.)
1886. Opinion by Judge Hand rel. to case involving construction of sec. 5, art. iv., act of Je. 30, 1885, rel. to anthracite coal mines, providing for health and safety of persons employed, and protection and preservation of property. (Repts. of inspectors of mines 1886: 7-12.)
- Necessity of requiring natural gas cos. to lay pipes above ground where they cross mine workings. (14 A.R. bureau of industrial statistics 1886: 33B.)
1887. Rept. of committee of mine inspectors apptd. by Gov. Robt. E. Pattison, to investigate the explosive properties of after-damp. (Legisl. Record 1887: 1562-1563.)
- From remarks of Representative Finley, Apr. 25, 1887. Henry Loutit, James Blick, J. J. Davies, committee.
- Arbitration in 4th anthracite distr. [to determine safety of a mine]. (Repts. of inspectors of mines 1887: 77-79.)
 - Speed recorders on fans in 3d anthracite distr. (14 A.R. bureau of industrial statistics 1887: 3-4S.)
1888. Iron vs. wooden roads in rooms in mines. (Rept. of inspector of mines 1888: 238.)
1893. Construction of act of Je. 2, 1891, rel. to health and safety of anthracite coal miners; refusal of court to grant injunction. (Same 1893: 23-25.)
1894. Hempel's apparatus for quick determination of gases. (Same 1894: 231-233.)
1895. Rules for storing, keeping, moving, 'thawing, charging, firing, etc., dynamite mfrd. by Atlantic Dynamite Co. of N. J., in accordance with art. xii rule 29, of anthracite mine law of Penn., approved 1891. (Same 1895: 155-157.)
1897. Mine timbering; by J. Birkinbine, consulting engr. (Rept. of division of forestry 1897: 167-182.)
- Description of mining methods of state, mineral interests to which mining is related, use of wood in mines, methods of timbering mines, etc.
1898. Commonwealth vs. Elk Hill Coal & Iron Co.; mining law—2d opening—safety appliance—act of Je. 2, 1891, construed. (Rept. of bureau of mines 1898: lvii-lviii.)

Safety Measures—cont'd

1898. Measures for increasing the safety of ascent and descent into mines. (Mining bull. Penn. State College v. 3 (no. 1): 9-21.)
1899. Electricity and compressed air as now used in mines and their comparative degrees of safety to employes. (Rept. of bureau of mines 1899: 479-483.)
- Colliery improvements and their effects upon safety of the mine. (Same 1899: 84-86.)
1900. Overwinding device for hoisting engines; with diagram, see between pp. xxvi and xxvii. (Same 1900: xvi.)
- Recommended that act of July 15, 1897, for protection of miners from dangers resulting from incompetent miners working in anthracite coal mines, be repealed. (A.R. secy. of internal affairs pt. 1 1899/00: 126-127A.)
1901. Separate traveling ways for workmen of mines with electric haulage recommended. (Rept. of bureau of mines 1901: 3.)
- A boon to mining interests; improved cartridge which will avert danger from explosions of gas and fires. (Same 1901: 69-72.)
1902. Reasons why systematic propping should be adopted in coal mines. (Same 1902: 11-16.)
1903. Safety of mines of 2d anthracite distr. (Rept. of dept. of mines 1903 pt. 1: 79.)
1904. The Williams-Kohlbraker overwinding or safety device; with diagram. (Same 1904 pt. 2: v-vi.)
- Overwinding or safety device; remarks in favor of Williams-Kohlbraker overwinding device installed at Susquehanna Coal Co.'s shaft at Glen Lyon. (Same 1904 pt. 1: xiii-xiv.)

Telephones

1882. Telephones introduced into mines of so. distr. (Repts. of inspectors of mines 1882: 253-254.)

Ventilation

1869. Force of air currents in the mines. (Rept. of inspectors of mines of Schuylkill Co. 1869: 15.)
1870. Reforms in mines rel. to ventilation. (Repts. of inspectors of mines 1870: 1781-1782.)

COAL MINES AND MINING: BITUMINOUS DISTRICTS

The Act of Apr. 18, 1877 provided for the appointment of a board of examiners; they were authorized to divide the bituminous coal region into three inspection districts; this division was to be revised whenever the examiners deemed it necessary.

The redistricting of the bituminous coal field in 1883 was done pursuant to provisions of the amendment of Je. 13, 1883 of the Act of Apr. 18, 1877, generally referred to as the ventilation law.

1897. No. and annual earnings of employees of a mine in the 10th bituminous distr. for 1897. (Rept. bureau of mines 1897: 486-490.)

"The name of the mine is omitted for obvious reasons."
"The number of miners in this, as well as in other districts, is always greater at each mine than is really necessary for the production of coal needed by the operator . . . the result is that the men's earnings are very small. . . . In consequence of this one of the managers resolved that he would employ only enough men to give him the amt. of coal he needed daily, and he did so and kept an acct. of the men's earnings for the whole yr., and it showed the difference in the earning capacity of miners. . . ."

Philadelphia

In lieu of ann. repts. of the city supt. of schools to the state supt. published in the ann. repts. of that officer, the board of public education of the first school district of Penn. (Phila.) issues an independent ann. rept., a custom established by the board of controllers of public schools of the first district of Phila. in Feb., 1819. The title, board of controllers, was changed in 1870 to board of public education; the repts. of the latter are numbered continuously with those of the bd. of controllers. School Fund—cont'd

PENNSYLVANIA

Penn. has no permanent school fund, the schools being supported by state appns. and local taxation. In 1786, 60,000 acres of land were set aside for the endowment of public schools; it is thought that this appn. went to county academies. In 1831 a second common school fund was established consisting of an unknown area of state lands; the fund was estimated at $1,500,000; before 1870 it had entirely disappeared.
